Excerpts-----F. J. Haydn
Orchestration, Mr. Navola

In the Beginning God created the Heaven and the Earth; and the Earth was without form and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. John Leipert, Tenor

And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters;
and God said: "Let there be light", and there was light!

And God saw the light, that it was good: And God divided the light from the darkness.

Paula Tix, Soprano

And new created world springs up at God's command.

Choruses and Orchestra

And God made the firmament, and divided the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament; and it was so.

Lawrence Smith, Tenor

And God said, "Let the waters under the heavens be gathered together to one place, and let the dry land appear." And it was so. And God called the dry land earth, and the gathering of waters called He seas, and God saw that it was good.

Joyce Starkey, Narrator

And God said, "Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit," and it was so.

Elizabeth Schröder, Soprano

With verdure clad the fields appear delightful to the revised sense; by flowers sweet and gay, enhanced is the charming sight.

Cynthia Geburger, Soprano

And God said, "Let there be lights in the firmament of heaven, to divide the day from the night; and to give light upon the earth; And let them be for signs and for seasons, and for days and for years." He made the stars also.

Valentine Tamasov, Soprano

In splendor bright the sun now rises to run his measured course. With softer beams and milder light the silver moon walks on through silent night. Countless hosts of radiant stars adorn the space firmness of the azure sky.
In song divine, the sons of God announced the day, proclaiming thus His power.

Joyce Starkey, Narrator

The heavens are telling the glory of God; The wonder of His work displays the firmament: Today that is coming, speaks it the day. The heavens are telling the glory of God, The wonder of His work, Displays the firmament.

To list the names of the hundreds of pupils and members of the faculty, office staff and custodial staff who had a part in this program would be impossible. However, we must acknowledge publicly our indebtedness to the entire staff for its cooperation and to all the students who assisted in the preparation and presentation of "Happy Holidays".

We wish to thank the parents and friends of Clinton Place for their attendance here tonight to hear and view our efforts for the common good.
